

STEM JOBS IN SPORTS

Activity: Try to match the job title on the left with the job description on the right.

GROUNDSKEEPER

DOCTOR

This person uses their knowledge about physics, buildings, and structures to oversee the construction of ballparks and the improvement of the facilities.

This person uses their knowledge of math and computers to calculate player and team performance and make recommendations for the coaches.

ENGINEER

This person uses their knowledge about science, medicine, and the human body to ensure baseball players remain healthy throughout the season.

STATISTICIAN

This person uses their knowledge about science, grass, dirt, water, and light to ensure the baseball field is in excellent condition before and during the game.